

CHICAGO

▲ STEPHANIE WOHLNER DESIGN

The indoor-outdoor sun room of this historic home in Highland Park, Illinois, was transformed with a Parisian accent. The luxurious, layered space incorporates a stunning stone wall and iron furniture embellished with patterned pillows. Zinnias, phlox and dahlias bring color to the garden, while an area suited for sit-down meals offers more opportunities for enjoyment.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST

▲ DEERING DESIGN STUDIO

An outdoorsy, rock-climbing family wanted a place where they could cook and unwind by the fire with friends. They also asked for a meditative pool surrounded by lush native plantings. With help from architect Joyce Puri and a variety of materials, including wood, glass and stone, their requests were beautifully met in this Bothell, Washington, space.

ARIZONA

LISSA LEE HICKMAN ▶

In this Scottsdale, Arizona, property, authentic materials and expansive grounds yield comfortable outdoor spaces built for entertaining. Reclaimed materials like antique mantels surround the fireplaces, while French terra-cotta pavers line the patios. The exterior stone was mined from a nearby quarry, and the furniture complements the natural color and texture of the rugged landscape.

